MIXED DISPLAY

10 January - 11 February 2012

To see in the New Year with a flourish Marsden Woo Gallery will hold it's biggest and most ambitious group exhibition yet, with brand new work from gallery artists and special guests shown side by side in the 2012 Mixed Display.

Marsden Woo's gallery artists will exhibit their newest work, with inspiring and captivating ceramics by Gordon Baldwin, Ken Eastman and Sara Radstone; thought provoking works by Philip Eglin, Kerry Jameson and Caroline Broadhead; decorative and functional pieces by Carol McNicolli, Alison Britton and Chun Liao; and intriguing work by Nao Matsunaga, Robert Marsden, Emma Wolfenden and Christoph Zellweger. A special focus will be on Dawn Youll, who will debut her second major series for the gallery.

For the first time ever, previous Project Space artists Owen Bullett, Tom Foulsham, Maria Milisi, James Rigler, Alida Sayer and Carole Windham have been invited to participate in the Mixed Display, with exciting new works specially made for this exhibition. They will be joined by associated artists James Evans, Tony Hayward, Lawson Oyekan, Jacqueline Poncelet, Phillip Sayer and Sam Scott, who will all add further variation into the mix.

This promises to be the most refreshingly eclectic, jam-packed exhibition Marsden Woo has seen, and offers a rare opportunity to see the work of all these artists at the same time - definitely one not to be missed.
